

Christopher Ragheb is a Senior Vice President and Commercial Banking Market Manager for City National Bank's Commercial Banking team based in Washington, DC, covering the Mid-Atlantic region. Mr. Ragheb leads a team of colleagues working directly with middle market companies and nonprofit organizations to provide comprehensive solutions for all of their commercial banking needs. Services include a full suite of credit products, depository, equipment finance, treasury management, international banking and institutional services solutions.

Mr. Ragheb has more than 28 years of successful professional Commercial and Corporate banking experience. Mr. Ragheb joined City National Bank to launch and build out the Mid-Atlantic Commercial Banking Group on May 1, 2017. Prior to joining City National, he held a series of progressive positions in middle market lending, healthcare and non-profit lending, specialty lending and corporate banking as both a lender and leader. Most recently, he was with BB&T as a senior vice president and senior corporate banker in the Greater Washington D.C. region.

Mr. Ragheb has a B.A. in Management from Hiram College in Ohio, along with graduate studies in Finance at Case Western Reserve University's Weatherhead School of Management. He is active in various charitable and community organizations, and currently serves as the Chairman of the Board of Trustees for St. James' Children's School in Potomac, and also serves on the Board of Trustees for Farmland Childhood Development Center also in Potomac, Maryland.